All,

Like Josh, I would like to discuss with Ryan what information we need to prepare for the Sediment TWG, and am nervous about waiting for the Dry Run to find out.

Like Ryan, I need time to work on the project.

And we need to develop a draft agenda.

Since today's Project Team check-in is cancelled, here are some questions to consider and discuss via phone, email, over cubicle walls, etc over the next 2 days:

1. Should we provide a soup to nuts review of the Phased approach (i.e., the Sediment Matrix)? It has not been walked through with the TWG. At a minimum, we should send them an email with the link to the document asking them to review as prep for the TWG meeting, or an update (Josh's revision?):

2. Should we emphasize the TWG's role ("decision space", as envisioned on the Process Map?

3. Should we address the concerns about the 1998 listings "head-on" and our follow-up activities to reassess and establish targets (first RBS and now biomonitoring)?

I anticipate that if we go directly into the biocriteria material, we will encounter the same resistance as last month, and never get to the discussion about the methodology, targets.

Maybe Josh, Ryan and I can discuss briefly and come up with an outline for the agenda.

Thanks, David

We have a check-in scheduled today. Does anybody feel we need to meet. I could use the time to prep for the dry run.

Thanks
